Acadia Sport Day Draws Big Crowd Of Chinook People

With Old Sol smiling his brightest and raining down beams of radiant sunshine, Chinook folk extracted a bumper crop of joy out of the holiday. The weather was ideal and although the breezes blew somewhat lustily during the day, this but added zest to the spirit of the day. With the exception of the Junior baseball double-header there was no visible celebration in town, but all the folk had their own little programs of jubilation which they carried off successfully.

All roads led to Acadia on Friday, where the King's birthday was fittingly marked with a big sport demonstration. Everyone who could boast the ownership of a car, whether a humble lizzie or a big six hit the highroad for the valley. Those who still lack the possession of a bus piled into somebody else's—but got there some way or other and participated in the fine treat prepared by Langford U.F.A.

Chinook was on hand en masse and the town had all the earmarks of "A Deserted Village". Local merchants hooked on the padlocks to their places of business and hit for Acadia and during the day the town streets were practically bereft of traffic. The attendance ETA ETAOIET. In addition to providing a goodly share of the attendance, local sportsmen brought further honors to their town by carrying off the baseball double-header. Several Chinook boys also captured first awards in other athletic events.

Fully 600 attended the affair which is conceded to have been the most successful event of the season. Following a long list of sport classics, the day was brought to a happy conclusion with a dance in the evening.

LIGHTNING STRIKES

MRS. McCORMACK OF
ACADIA ON SUNDAY

Struck by a bolt of lightning during the heavy storm ETAA during the height of the big electrical storm which swept over this district Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Hilda McCormack, who resides near Acadia, was severely injured. Several other occupants of the household were hit at the same time, but escaped with lesser injuries.

Dr. Rosenkrans of Chinook was hurriedly called following the accident and administered medical treatment.

Personalities

Adjutant F. W. Richardson of the Calgary branch of the Salvation Army visited Chinook over the holiday in connection with the present campaign of the organization. He was given liberal financial support locally and left well pleased with the generosity of Chinook folk.

Owing to the expense involved the summer camp of C Squadron of the 1st Mounted Rifles has been called off Major C. W. Rideout announces.

The Service Garage is selling plain casings 30 by 3 1-2 at 16.50 Non-Skids at 19.50 and Nobby Treads at 20.00. Other sizes of tires and tubes at proportionate prices.

Dr. J. H. Egbert, who formerly practised here and who is now located at Huhenden paid a flying visit to Chinook over the holiday, meeting many of his old friends.

Mr. Jack McCall, M.L.A., and Mr. O. H. Price, manager of the Goose Lake Line Land Co. spent Friday in town on their way home from the sports at Acadia.

Mr. G. W. Fulcher, representative of the Massey-Harris Company, was in Chinook Friday. New rope drives and other repairs will be effected at the local National Elevator as a result of the visit here last week of Superintendent G. E. Rund of Calgary.

CONDITIONS GOOD

Mr. M. W. Whitley, inspector of the Great West Life Assurance Company is quite pleased with conditions locally, following a week's visit in the country surrounding Chinook. Collections are coming quite satisfactorily and the farmers are meeting their obligations promptly, he states.

CUTWORM IS ACTIVE IN WHEAT FIELDS TO SOUTH OF THIS TOWN

Farmers coming into town report the wheat looking good in the vicinity of Chinook, the grain being six inches high on some farms. The cutworm is showing signs of its presence and many fields present quite a patchy effect as the result of the inroads made by the pest. The worm is reported to be worse in the Collingwood district than previous years and farmers are hopeful that its effect will be nullified by a good rain. One farmer states that just two miles from town south he saw a field which was badly cut up by the marauding worm.

The mildness of the preceding winter is given as a reason for the extent of the plague.

On Guard

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This is true in every walk and activity of life. It is true not merely of the nation, but of the individual. It is true in the realm of political reform, in the preservation of health, in the success of any business undertaking. The man who is indifferent to, neglects and sleeps on his job, cannot succeed. Failure under such circumstances is inevitable in the long run.

Once again the farmers of Western Canada have seeded their acres. It is to be hoped that, bearing the above adage in mind, they have used only good clean seed, the best that could be obtained. It is to be hoped, also, that to the full extent of their available equipment, and the time at their disposal, they have pursued the best accepted methods of farming and prepared the seed bed in the most approved manner.

The growing season (at the time of writing this article) has been all that could be desired, with copious rains and cool days which give promise of a strong rooting of the grain so that it will be in the best possible condition to withstand a dry period should such befall.

But "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." There are many enemies to a growing crop in this western country. Farmers everywhere must remain alert and vigilant to combat these on every hand. There is the grasshopper scourge. Governments and municipalities have devised and outlined the best methods of fighting this pest, and those materials required to wage the battle have been procured. But official bodies cannot do it all. It remains for the individual farmer everywhere to do his share, to do it promptly and thoroughly. All the precautionary measures should be taken, and an ever watchful eye kept on developments. It is necessary to wage the battle against the grasshopper, not only to save this year's crop, but to insure the success of future crops which the rapid elimination of this danger requires.

Then there is the noxious weed. It takes many forms, but each and every variety is destructive, some, of course, more destructive than others. Noxious weeds have, through neglect, become rampant in the past, ruined many a fine farm. They are still making headway, and a combined allied warfare by all agriculturists against them is one of the pressing needs of the present time. Noxious weeds cannot be fought by farmers singly. Despite the greatest care by scores of farmers, one or two indifferent and neglectful farmers can do irreparable damage to a whole district. The high winds of the west can seed an immense area of land with weeds just as effectively as a drill can seed them.

Farmers complain sometimes of excessive elevator charges taking an undue toll from the receipts of their year's labor; or of the prevailing high freight rates which have the same effect; or of the loss of so many cents a bushel resulting from a sudden drop in the market price. It is important, however, that they should bear in mind the fact that noxious weeds, by decreasing the yield from their acres is taking, year after year, a heavier toll than any one of these things, and frequently a heavier toll than all of them put together.

Noxious weeds impose a loss of millions of dollars annually upon the farmers of Western Canada through decreased yield. They impose a further loss in threshing bills. They add more loss in a falling off in grade. Finally, they are a huge bill of expense for work in cleaning the land once it has been seeded, while the capital and sale value of any farm is enormously reduced from the presence of weeds, not only on the farm itself, but in the surrounding district.

Every farmer, therefore, should not only make it his personal business to clean his own land, and keep it clean, but he should actively interest himself in the affairs of his municipality and see that, through the enactment and enforcement of necessary laws for the protection of all, his whole district is cleaned up and kept clean.

Saskatoon Supplies Lamp Standards.

A shipment of fifty cast iron lamp standards by the John Eads Iron Works, of Saskatoon, to Regina to be placed on the parliament building grounds, is claimed to be the first order of this nature to be placed west of Winnipeg. The lamp posts are nine feet high with a twenty inch base, weighing about four hundred and twenty pounds each.

John Bull's Shirt.

Great Britain is still working along without a general strike, though her coal strike is still unsettled and she is loaded up with unsolved problems, especially labor problems. But even in the throes of revolution, John Bull traditionally prefers to keep his shirt on, and at last advice it was still tucked in at the waist line.—New York Life.

PALE AND NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Need Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength.

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time, home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become weak, their nerves overwrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness and weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, outdoor exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the boy or girl will be less likely to get sick at school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Watson, Grand Falls, N.B., who says: "In the spring of 1919 my daughter Thistle, then 12 years of age, began to show symptoms of nervousness which developed into St. Vitus dance. She seemed to lose control of her limbs and at times every muscle in her body seemed to be twitching and jerking, and the trouble seemed to be growing worse. We finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result was better even than we had hoped for, and she is now enjoying the best of health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Palpitation Of the Heart

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to their household, social or business duties through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. F. X. Gauthier, Elbury, Ont., writes:—"During 23 years past I was greatly troubled with palpitation of the heart, and sometimes so much so that those around me thought I would die at any moment, being so much weakened by the sharpness of the palpitation which would last sometimes up to 10 hours. I had the doctor who kept me taking his medicine to overcome the disease, but to no effect. There was no change at all for the better. Two years ago a friend advised me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I began to use them at once, and at the second box I began to feel some relief, so I continued to use them according to directions and now I am perfectly well. Before using the pills I never weighed 100 lbs., now I weigh 117, and feel as if I were young although I am over 65 years of age."

The Cattle Commission

Terms of Reference Important to Canadian Interests.

As Canada has a direct interest in the outcome of the investigation now being conducted by a special British Royal Commission in the matter of the cattle embargo, some importance attaches to the terms of the reference under which the inquiry is being made. The commission is composed of Viscount Finlay (chairman), Lord Asquith, Sir Algernon Firth, Sir Harry Peck and Sir Arthur Sleigh, and the reference is as follows:

"To inquire into the admission into the United Kingdom of livestock for purposes other than immediate slaughter at the ports, whether such action would increase and cheapen the meat supply of the country, and, if so, to what extent, and whether it was advisable, having regard to the necessity of protecting livestock bred in the country from the introduction of disease, and of restoring their numbers after the losses to which they were subject during the war."—Montreal Gazette.

THE MAGIC OF THE TEETH.

Copyright, 1921, by Rea Proctor McGee.

No other person has ever seen a picture or a landscape or a beautiful face or a sunset just as you see it.

No one has ever heard a piece of music or a thunderstorm just as you heard it.

When you and your dearest friend read the same book or hear the same story you will always differ a little in your understanding of it.

This is because every impression that comes to you is moulded by your own personality. Your personality is like an expert and import tax; it touches every act of life—it affects every impression, both coming and going.

Personality is the sum of all of your experiences and of your ideas and of your memories, plus your physical condition. Your appearance is a large factor in your effect upon other people; it is one of the great factors in your effect upon yourself.

We all love magic and the supernatural because the everyday humdrum of solid fact gets upon our nerves.

Fairy tales are not for children, they are for grown-ups.

We call them "novels" and we always expect the magical power of good to overcome the sorcery of evil.

Our heroes and heroines we always endow with beauty, health, energy or youth, because in our experience these conditions give a desirable personality and contribute to a happy present and a genial old age.

Our villains we endow with forbidding faces, crooked bodies, often with ill-health, because we know that these things warp the disposition and frequently change a pleasant personality into an unpleasant one.

Did you ever hear of a beautiful heroine or a manly hero whose smile showed a row of decayed teeth or inflamed gums? Do you remember how quickly "Dr. Jekyll's" even and beautiful teeth changed into protruding snaggle teeth when he became "Mr. Hyde?"

Your mouth and teeth make up seventy-five per cent. of your facial expression. Who wants to look like "Mr. Hyde?"

"Homing Squirrel" in B.C.

Many Attempts Made to Lose Him.

Has Failed. A "homing" squirrel of more than ordinary sagacity and cunning is the subject of a great deal of interest in New Westminster, B.C. It took up its home in the rafters of the home of George H. Small some months ago with the evident intention of spending the remaining years of life there. Various attempts to lose the squirrel proved fruitless. On one occasion it was taken to Vancouver and liberated in Stanley Park, but thirty-nine days later it was back in its New Westminster home.

"There is no doubt of the identity of the animal," said Mr. Small, "as he always comes to the same window for his food on his return, and then repairs to the same hole in the roof which is the entrance to his home."

The squirrel has now been taken to West Vancouver, and will either have to swim the inlet or come over on the ferry if he elects to return home.

True Bear Stories

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

An old Indian friend of mine named Robert Bear (still living), with whom I passed the spring on two neighboring stages in the flooded lands of the lower Saskatchewan many years ago, used to chat with me over his hunting experiences round the camp fire; same fire being built on a clay bottom, on the poles which formed the floor of each stage, and I have known the water rise very close to the floor, but this only for a short time, and when the ice had jammed at the elbow of the Big River.

Robert was a sincere Christian and a devout member of the English Church which has done so much towards the work among the Indian tribes of the Northwest; his grandmother, it is said an Esquimaux, while he was born and brought up amongst the swampy Cree of the lower Red River settlement. A splendid big game hunter, Robert was remarkably cool in moments of danger as the following incidents will show.

At my request for a story one evening, Robert said, "I was in the employ of the Hudsons Bay Company at Fairford Post, situated at the north end of Lake Manitoba, and the master there had occasion to send an express packet of importance to Fort Garry; this I was to take alone and on foot, and I decided to strike a direct course through the bush and swamps. It was in the spring of the year and I was travelling light; a H. B. blanket 3 point; two spare pairs of moccasins; a single barrel flint lock gun; tomahawk and scalping knife with some tea, tobacco and matches made up the outfit. I took no provisions, but would depend on game killed en route. The distance roughly speaking would be about 160 miles, and on my second morning out I started as usual at the first peep of daylight and after an hour or so walking came out on the bank of a small round lake, about a long stone throw across; on the other side directly opposite me were two black bears standing on their hind legs and wrestling. I at once slipped a trading bullet on top of the short charge in my gun, opened the pan and tapped the stock to show the powder well up; just as I was occupied in this the bears dropped on their four feet, looked across at me and each taking different directions started at a clumsy gallop round the lake. One thinks quick in a moment of this kind and I was not prepared with my single barrel to meet both bears at once so I started to run and meet one of them, he came on at the same pace and when within a few feet I fired and killed him dead, then with my foot on his body I loaded as quickly as possible, but none too soon as the other bear was very close, taking careful aim I fired and killed him dead within a few feet of his mate."

"And then, Robert, what did you do?"

"I knelt down and thanked God for mercifully preserving my life (truly there was a lesson from an Indian, how few white men would have thought of their Maker). Well, my hunt was a good one, the bears were both young males and in prime condition; I decided to camp for a while and dry the skins so that I could put them in my pack and it would mean pocket money in Fort Garry; while the skins, after being carefully scraped, were drying, I cut a quantity of the meat up in thin strips and hung it on stakes in the woods, this meaning grub for the trip. There was still a quantity of meat over and I did not want to waste the good food; fortunately there was a muskox close and on pulling upon a lot of moss I came to ice and on that I piled the spare meat, then placed heavy logs over the cache to keep off Mister Wolverine."

This was the only exciting occurrence on the trip, but the next evening I struck a small Indian encampment and was received with the greatest hospitality as usual and in return I directed them to my bears meat cache and told them they were very welcome to the meat."

Many years after this Robert moved with his family to the south branch of the Saskatchewan and located on a small farm, where from this base he would go on extended hunts in the winter and crop his land in the summer time. About the same time or a year or so later I had started fur trading in the Stony Creek district (now Melfort), and on a trading trip to Cha-ka-ta-pa-sin's bands at Wa-we-a-gemow I was offered pairs of three black bear skins and at once inquired what happened to the rest of the skins. Their story told me by

Ne-soo-pa-tin-cinew was that a huge old grizzly had wandered in from the plains (and not hibernating like the local bears) had found a winter den of these unfortunates, dug them out, feasted on the meat and thus mutilated the hides; he had followed the track for some distance northwards and then dropped it. In the meantime the news of Mr. Grizzly's arrival had spread far and wide as they were rare visitors in the north country; Robert Bear was one of the first to hear of it and never having shot a grizzly he determined to track him if at all possible.

He was, I think, some three days on the trail, a rifle as before with a single barrel gun, axe and knife, but at this date percussion locks had replaced the old flint, and after considerable circling he found the track at the main Saskatchewan River below the Forks; the bear crossed the river here and took to the dense bush; finally the track freshened and Robert stopped, overhauled his gun, replaced the cap and then with a determination that it was either him or the bear to cross the Great Divide, he waited for a favorable wind, and then, stepping like a ballet dancer, he crept along the trail.

Canadian Cattle Not Diseased

Scotch Professor Admits a Different Reason For Embargo.

London—Professor Wallace, of Edinburgh University, who drew such a gloomy picture before the cattle embargo commission concerning the state of Scotland if the embargo were removed has expressed the opinion that the chief reason of the agitation for the removal of the embargo was Canada was anxious to dispose of her surplus cattle, totalling last year 300,000 head, by dumping them in Great Britain owing to the United States duty.

If the embargo were lifted he feared that a similar agitation would arise in South Africa, which was full of cattle disease. The witness admitted, however, that there had not been a single case of cattle disease in Canada for years, but refused credit for this to Canadian inspection.

Duke of Atholl Mentioned

Scottish Peer May Be Next Governor-General.

Ottawa—According to advices received here, the latest name to be prominently mentioned as Governor-General of Canada in succession to the Duke of Devonshire, is the Duke of Atholl, son of a family long prominent in the Scottish peerage. Nothing definite has been announced and those previously spoken of—Lord Byng, the Earl of Northumberland and Lord Desborough—are still regarded among the eligibles.

It is officially estimated that the Duke of Devonshire will take leave of Canada on June 18, though his term is not up until the fall. In an interval between his departure and the coming of his successor, the chief justice will act as administrator of the government.

Waterspout Destroys Portuguese Provinces

Houses in Portugal Swept Away and Land Flooded.

Lisbon—A huge waterspout in the Maia-Doura province has almost totally destroyed four parishes, swept away houses and flooded the land and railways. Many of the people are homeless, and a petition has been sent to the Government for help. A large supply of maize for bread was forwarded and workmen are being dispatched to repair the damage.

French Use Tanks in Silesia

Said to Have Been Successful in Charge Against Germans.

Oppeln—French soldiers forming the garrison of Beuthen, a city in Southwestern Silesia, near the old Polish frontier, have been attacked by forces organized by the German inhabitants of the town. Reports state that the Germans engaged numbered 3,000. The French have used tanks in charging on the Germans and are said to have gained the upper hand in the battle. There have been many German casualties, it is reported, but the French have not suffered heavy losses.

Irish Still Have Cock Fights

Illegal Sport Carried on in Spite of Trouble.

Dublin—In the midst of all the turmoil in Ireland, the popular but illegal sport of cock fighting is being allowed to lapse. There has just been a great assembly of at least 1,000 people on an island on Lough Neagh.

Some fights took place, but before they concluded, 150 police succeeded in reaching the island. That ended the matches. The spectators were permitted to go free.

Ireland Has Dark Record

Many Civilians Have Been Assassinated Since January First.

London—Ireland was again to the fore during the question period in the House of Commons. Mr. Lloyd George and Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary, being bombarded with inquiries regarding recent events there. The chief secretary said that since January 1, 1921, six women had been murdered, seven wounded and three kidnapped by the Sinn Feiners. During the fortnight ending May 8, 20 police, eight military and 40 civilian deaths were reported by the police. There were nine assassinations and two attempted assassinations of ex-service men reported in the same period. No evidence incriminating the crown forces was forthcoming during May.

Rain Checks Cutworms in Alberta.

Lethbridge—A heavy rain here, giving more moisture than fell during the whole of June last year, has served to check the ravages of the cutworms, and puts the growing crops in a splendid position so far as moisture is concerned. Conditions are as good as on the same date in 1915. The rain was general over Southern Alberta.

Hopes For Better Times.

Montreal—At the annual meeting of the Merchants Bank of Canada, Sir H. Montague Allan, president, said that the general depression had affected the bank to some extent, "but we hope," said he, "the low point has been passed, and that there will soon be a change for the better." He warned clients to be cautious before undertaking new commitments.

Bank President Sees Robbery

Watched Bandits Escape With $16,000 In Currency.

Minneapolis—A bag containing $16,000 in currency was taken from two messengers of the Millers and Traders Bank by five bandits as they stepped from an automobile in front of the bank here. The bank is located just across the street from police headquarters, and members of the sheriff's force, court attaches and the president of the bank, Guy Thomas, watched the robbery from across the street. The hold-up men escaped in an automobile, pursuing policemen losing trace of them in the heavy traffic.

Crop Prospects Good in Manitoba

Country Well Organized to Cope With Hopper Menace.

Winnipeg—With all conditions pointing to a banner crop, Manitoba farmers are generally optimistic regarding the yield this year, according to a report issued by the provincial agricultural department. The acreage, the report states is about normal. No actual harm has as yet been done by grasshoppers, but they are hatching generously in some places. The country, however, is well organized to cope with any situation which may arise from this pest.

Although seeding commenced later in some parts of Manitoba, the progress during May has been quite satisfactory. The large amount of plowing done last fall enabled rapid progress to be made with seeding, though in some sections all the barley has not been sown yet.

Contract Awarded For Irrigation Scheme

Work On 50 Mile Ditch Will Commence at Once.

Lethbridge, Alta.—Grant Smith & Company, and McDonald Limited, of Vancouver and Calgary, have been awarded the contract for excavation of six million feet of earth on the 50 mile ditch for the Lethbridge northern irrigation project. The contract price was $1,660,279, which is a saving of about $470,000 on the original estimate of the government engineer, George Anderson, who had estimated the cost to be $2,130,000. "If the remainder of the work is done at a similar saving, the total saving will likely reach $10 an acre which would reduce the capital outlay for the farmers to about $40 an acre."

The successful company will start work within two weeks, and expect to employ about 1,000 men.

European Conditions Said To Be Cause Of Industrial Depression

Austrians Want Foreign Credits

No Hope of Relief For Next Few Months.

Vienna—Sir William Goore, chairman of the Austrian section of the reparations commission, which has just gone out of existence, who has made several attempts to obtain British loans for Austria, says some signs of improvement in the internal situation of this country but holds out no hope that the foreign credits the Austrians desire will be granted them within the next few months.

"Trade is better, wages are beginning to approach the internal purchasing value of the crown and the people look healthier," Sir William says. "The supply of coal is now mainly a matter of money and at the moment can be identified with the local market. Raw materials are more easily obtained, on long credits and the import requirements for these should be financed without any serious demand upon state funds."

Race Riot Causes Thirty Deaths

Law Enforcement Officials at Tulsa Blamed For Outbreak.

Tulsa, Okla.—District Judge Vaujan Biddison called a special grand jury as the first step in an investigation of the Tulsa race riot which resulted in many casualties and much property damage.

According to the latest authentic report, nine white and twenty-one negroes are known to have been killed during the race clash. An estimate places property damage at $1,500,000. All this, according to General C. F. Barrett, commanding the state troops, called here to maintain martial law, was incited by "an impudent negro, a hysterical girl and a yellow journal reporter."

Representative citizens of Tulsa condemned the city and county law enforcement officials, holding them responsible for the disastrous outbreak.

New York—Ludwig Urban, who carries credentials showing that he once prepared the food for Charles, former Emperor of Austria, is in New York looking for a job. Urban declares that even a chief suffered when an Emperor was overthrown, and he was able only to travel thin classes.

Another German Sentenced.

Leipzig—The high court in session here engaged in the trial of Germans accused of offenses committed during the war, imposed sentence of six months' imprisonment today on Sergeant Neumann, accused of ill-treating British prisoners in a German camp.

Sawmill Is Burned.

Nelson, B.C.—Fire, the origin of which is at present unknown, completely destroyed the sawmill of the O'Neill and Mann Lumber Company at Boulder.

Hope Of Ireland Is To Defeat Republican Army

Sir Hamar Greenwood Says Irish People Would Be Glad If Government Did Them Out This Terror.

London—Replying in the House to an attack on the Government policy of reprisals in Ireland and the Irish administration, Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, said that the number of troops in Ireland was so short of the requirements that it had been impossible to provide guards for all public buildings. "It was considered inadvisable," he said, "that extremist Sinn Feiners should attempt to turn national possessions such as the customs house."

Two parliaments, said the secretary, had been elected in Ireland. The Ulster Parliament would soon be constituted and it would then be impossible to extend martial law in that area, without the consent of the Ulster Parliament. If Southern Ireland failed to take advantage of the opportunity to assume the responsibility of good government in the south, a new situation would arise which the Government must face with all its resources.

"With regard to reprisals, no officer below the rank of Brigade Commander was entitled to order them, and all serious abnormal acts were reviewed. If in any case innocent persons suffered by orders of a brigade commander, the secretary

Ottawa—A general want of confidence on the part of the manufacturer, producer, middleman and consumers, is at the base of unsatisfactory employment conditions in Canada in the opinion of the Senate committee on unemployment, which reported through its chairman, Senator J. A. Macdonald. The committee presented to the Senate a summary of evidence of witnesses representing the bankers, manufacturers and workingmen of Canada, and stated that it had not had sufficient time to thoroughly investigate the situation and make a comprehensive report.

The evidence of F. A. Acand, deputy minister of labor, showed 200,000 fewer employed in April, 1921, than there were in July, 1920. The worst situation in the last two years had been reached at the end of April, and conditions had improved from that time. Coal mines in British Columbia, Alberta and Nova Scotia had been on part time working instead of being closed down. Montreal and Toronto were stated to be the two cities which had fared worst in regard to unemployment.

Arthur Martel, Montreal, gave evidence for the labor point of view. Lack of employment, he said, was largely due to the non-circulation of money in Canada. People were waiting for prices to come down before they would buy. Mr. Martel suggested that if sacrifices were to be made, wage earners should not be called upon to make them. He favored a shorter work day as a means of absorbing more workers.

J. F. Walsh, representing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, pointed out to the committee that while Canadian manufacturers had done their utmost to absorb returned soldiers they could not keep their factories going without markets for their products.

Henry T. Ross, secretary Canadian Bankers' Association, said the chief cause of unemployment in Canada lay in European conditions. The returned soldier was cut off. Manufacturers and wholesalers had taken their losses but retailers appeared to be keeping their prices up.

Senator Robertson, minister of labor, suggested as remedies that periods of unemployment be anticipated and that Government purchased soldiers they could not keep when factories would otherwise be at their lowest pressure.

Publication of Irish Papers Stopped.

Dublin—By order of Maj.-Gen. Sir Edward Strickland, commanding the British troops in Munster, the Freeman's Journal and the Dublin Evening Telegraph have been excluded for a week from circulation in the area covered by martial law.

B.C. Mine Strike Over.

PLANS FORMULATED FOR CHAUTAUQUA THIS YEAR

Arrangements have been practically completed by the local enthusiasts for the staging of the grand Chautauqua festival this fall. Tickets are reported to be selling well and it is quite apparent that the residents of Chinook and environs fully realize and appreciate both the instructive and entertainment value of the Chautauqua.

The exact date of the affair this year has not been definitely set as yet, but action along this line will likely be taken soon. A well varied program of exceptional interest is scheduled for Chinook and indications point to a most successful event.

MORE FARMERS WANTED!

Press reports recently announced the intention of Premier Norris of Manitoba to call an early conference of the three prairie province premiers to consider the solution of the unoccupied land problem of the entire West, and if possible to agree on a uniform plan which would be put into effect in each province.

This decision was the result of certain legislation introduced in Manitoba which has been stood over pending the proposed conference.

In addition to the unoccupied land problem the interests of those now on the land will be fully considered. The latter subject undoubtedly will excite much interest in the Western provinces—particularly in the districts where the farmers wish to leave.

Manitoba, on the suggestion of the Western Colonization Association, has appropriated $50,000 for its own emigration expenditure for the six months ending November 1.

The association is about to embark upon the very important task of stimulating settlement in Western Canada and the no less important task of improving the lot of those already on the land. For this purpose it is being backed financially by public-spirited citizens all over Canada. The members have no selfish objects in mind as the association is precluded from making any profit whatever out of the land business resulting from their efforts. They are naturally impressed with the necessity of taking only such steps as commend themselves as being necessary and designed to further only the very laudable objects of colonizing our unoccupied land.

Among the subjects taken up are the following:

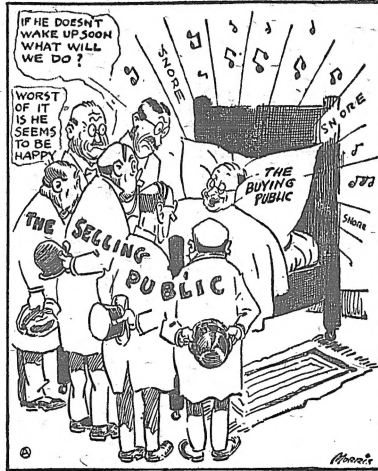

Uniformity of procedure in whatever steps may be taken; including legislation if deemed necessary, towards the colonization of the unoccupied lands of the three prairie provinces.

The interests of those who are now upon the land should be fully discussed and considered.

Those whose property will be affected by whatever steps may be taken should also be heard and their interests taken into consideration.

These are most important problems not only affecting the prairie provinces, but the Dominion as a whole. Thousands of acres still remain unproductive in Western Canada and any movement which has for its object the bringing in of more settlers and the utilization of these fertile tracks in the interests of greater production is worthy on the support of every resident of Canada. It is to be hoped that the aims of this patriotic association will be given every support both by government legislation and public sympathy.

Start Drive Against Hopper Pest Now!

Grasshoppers are reported to be at work in several parts of Southern Alberta. While cool weather of the past week has retarded the hatching process, they have hatched in sufficient numbers in some districts to warrant the conclusion that large numbers will appear as soon as warm weather sets in. From investigations which have been made, as many as 2,000 eggs per square foot have been found and from 80 per cent. to 85 per cent. of these eggs have hatched under artificial incubation.

The Department of Agriculture through the Schools of Agriculture has organized the province into districts for the purpose of putting control measures into effect. Each school of Agriculture will be responsible for its own district. Men from the staff of the schools and others which will be supplied by the department, will be available to attend meetings and to give whatever information or assistance is possible in the campaign. A good deal of damage was done to the young growing crops last season throughout the province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and over a considerable area of Southern Alberta. The use of poisoned bait consisting of bran, molasses and arsenic with the addition of a small amount of salt or the juice of lemons, has proved beyond question to be entirely effective in destroying the hoppers if used early in the season. The Department has already on hand large supplies of this poison bait stored at the Schools of Agriculture at Youngstown, Raymond, Gleichen, Claresholm, Olds and Vermilion. This bait will be sold at cost to anyone who makes application to the nearest school. The bait will cost from $20 to $25 per ton, molasses 5½¢ a pound and arsenic 30¢ per pound at point of shipment. Full information respecting the mixture, method of mixing and application secured by writing to one of the Schools of Agriculture.

From experience gained in Alberta last year as well as in Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, hoppers may be entirely controlled, provided the farmers in the districts infested co-operate in the campaign of poisoning. On the other hand, very serious loss may result if the farmers generally do not use every means in their power to destroy the hoppers on their own farms. In the work which was done last year in Southern Alberta, the hoppers could be found dead in large numbers from 12 to 24 hours after the bait had been scattered. In several cases which were seen by officials of the department, portions of fields were entirely destroyed before poison was applied. Immediately after two applications of the poison the work of the hoppers had practically ceased and in every case where the poison was properly mixed and applied early in the morning over a period of two weeks, the hoppers were completely destroyed. If the work is undertaken seriously by people in every district where the pest appears, the members of the Department are satisfied that the results of destruction from grasshoppers will not materially affect the yield of crops. Furthermore, if the campaign during the present year is effective in every part of the province, the possibility of an outbreak in 1922 will be greatly lessened. On the other hand, if effective measures are not adopted, and hoppers are allowed to hatch and develop to maturity, eggs will again be laid by the adult hoppers and in all probability will prove a menace again next year. Some parasites were noticed last year, working on the adult hopper but they were not found in sufficient numbers to seriously reduce the number of hoppers.

Sensation in Britain Caused By Discovery To Harness Wave Power

According to a recent report, a new scientific discovery has been made that has caused quite a sensation in British commercial circles and may go far to compensate for the lack of water power in the British Isles. It provides for the transmission of power by wave pulsations, thus adding a sixth to the five known methods, steam, direct mechanical, electric, compressed air and hydraulic. The principle is most simply illustrated by the boyish game of placing three coins touching each other in a row and then, by hitting the first, moving the third. Wave power effects the same result when it is applied to a fluid, preferably water, at one end of a conducting pipe. The initial energy is carried by the resultant waves right along the pipe's length, and it is claimed, greater efficiency is possible by other methods and at the same time with absolute safety. Wave power, it is stated, are today being sent through a one-inch pipe to a distance of one mile, and a plant now under construction is expected to carry very much further. Among the notable tools actually in operation are a portable wave power riveting engine which gives 2,400 blows a minute, and a rock-drill which cuts into granite as though it were cheese.

It is claimed on behalf of wave power transmission that it can be anything and everything now being done by alternating electric currents and without the danger of fire or explosion. The waves employed to transmit the power travel at the rate of sound in water, about a mile a second, or thereabouts. The size of pipe used depends on the amount of power to be carried and the pressure, and it is interesting to learn that the pipe can be tapped at wave lengths or half wave-lengths, thus being available for a number of machines. With a wave velocity equal to the speed of sound the waves have a length of one hundred and twenty feet. So far, the most important development is the application of the new system to rotary motors now being adapted to transmission and reduction gear for marine purposes. This wave power discovery, it is said, enabled the British Air Ministry during the war to equip its airplanes and those of the Allies with means of firing two thousand bullets, a minute between the propeller blades without touching the blades. The method is still being kept a secret by the British authorities. Out of this may come the utilization of the waves of the sea as they batter on the coasts of the British Isles.

Glowing Stories

From Oilfields

Party From Fort Norman Tell of Richness of District.

A party of nine have reached White Horse, Y.T., from the Fort Norman oil fields with glowing stories of the richness of the district. The trip from White Horse to Fort Norman and return was made in 60 days, including a six-day stop at Fort Norman. There were no hardships on the train, and they got back with the 35 dogs with which they started.

Members of the party reported that one well 50 miles below Fort Norman was recently capped under a heavy pressure.

Fewer than 100 claims have been staked so far, it is reported. Three trading posts at Fort Norman supply the district with provisions, there being a plentiful supply of everything except salt.

Representations have been made to Ottawa to permit applications for claim records to be filed with the land agent at White Horse in order to save the long trip to the recording office in Edmonton.

A Great Police Force

Royal Canadian Mounted Stand High In Estimation of West.

The Federal Government was wise in announcing in parliament that the identity of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police would be retained. The west needs the mounted police and the great work of the force is a matter of more than pride with all true westerners. The eastern members of parliament can never appreciate how the Riders of the Plains have helped build the west, make Canada and lay some of the foundations of the empire. Old timers of the west do not need to be told what the mounted police mean to Canada and many new Canadians have appreciated the public deeds of the superb force, while others can but guess at the private work of the body that has made it almost the only known representative of law, order and justice in the far-flung outposts of this part of the British Empire. No other police force in the empire stands so high in the estimation of the law-abiding west as the mounted police. No other body of police is such a terror to the evil-doer; the pride of the force in itself, in doing the great or grave things that had to be done, is justified. The swivel-chair critics of the east can never realize that the mounted police aided them in sitting at their ease in their chairs but the west knows—and so do the evil-doers.—From the Brandon Sun.

Germany Supplying Houses For France

Defeated Nation Going Into Portable Dwelling Business.

According to the Ministry of Liberated Regions, Germany will soon commence the delivery of twenty-five thousand wooden houses to be erected in the devastated zone of Northern France. The dwellings in question will be somewhat similar to the portable houses seen in Canadian summer resort camp colonies, but they will be built more solidly.

There is something particularly ironical in this Paris announcement and its relation to British Columbia. For it means that the defeated nation will be quick to seize upon the possibilities ahead of the wooden house in Europe. And very probably grab that tremendous business to which Agent-General Wade directed the attention of this province more than twelve months ago. If Germany gets a foothold in Great Britain we may expect her to take the portable house business of Mesopotamia, Palestine and eventually that of the Antipodes.—Victoria Times.

Oldest Twins Win Ten Dollars

Men 87 Years Old Take Prize at Musical Comedy.

Twins, 109 years of them, 218 brothers and sisters, mostly brothers though, attended a twin contest of "Two Little Girls in Blue," featuring the Fairbanks pair of girls at the George M. In response to the announcement that a $10 gold piece awaited the oldest pair who would come to the performance of the musical comedy, Emanuel and Leopold Klein, of Brooklyn crossed the East River and took away the chief award for being 87 years young and active. Seats were given to them in a stage box, and with them were seated Mrs. S. Boschart, aged 78 years, and William and James Farmer, 75 years old, both Civil War veterans. The other twins filling the remainder of the boxes and many seats in the orchestra.

An Unsinkable Plane

Novel Craft Is Designed For English Channel Service.

One of the latest ideas for the continental air service is an unsinkable airplane. It is being constructed by the Stag Lane Aerodrome Company, of Edgeware. The buoyancy is obtained by an inflated air balloon fitted into the rear end of the fuselage near the tail. It is figured that this will keep the machine well above water level in the event of an accident. In the roof is fitted a slight mica emergency door through which travelers would be able to escape.

The innovations do not interfere with the speed of the machine, for it will make 120 miles an hour.

Villa's Big Harvest

Former Bandit Has Changed From Destruction to Production.

Everybody interested in the prevalence of peace and prosperity in Mexico will be pleased by the statement that Francisco Villa, formerly a leader of bandits in the Southern Republic, expects to harvest 50,000 bushels of wheat on the large tract of land granted him by the government. He has not actually turned his arms into agricultural implements, but he has changed from destruction to production, and, with the aid of modern farming tools, is apparently achieving a success that will redound to his credit. In other words, it is good to know that Villa is now raising grain instead of noise "Cain."—From the Christian Science Monitor.

Where Age Is Respected

Turks Work As Long As They Are Capable.

Old age makes itself respected in Turkey by a capacity and willingness to work. A certain Murad, employed as a messenger by the Turkish telegraph office, was offered a pension when he reached his 120th year. He refused it, as it meant knocking off work, but his superiors insisted he must make room for younger people who otherwise could find no work, and would have no chance to get on in the life.

Murad finally agreed to quit, provided his young son was taken in his place. This seemed fair and he was told to bring the son around. The son presented was a white-haired man more than 70 years old.

Conservation Of Soil Is Necessary

Time Has Arrived To Give Matter Serious Consideration.

Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, speaking at the agricultural conference at Saskatoon, said:

"It is significant that the need for conservation of our soils has been pointed out for years past by our leading agriculturists. In a report of the Experiment Farm at Indian Head back in the eighties, Mr. Macay indicates that we must look forward to the time when we shall put back into the soil some of the ingredients which were being taken out through the production of crops. We have all been so concerned with the greater production of grains, however, that nature's warnings in the form of drifting soil, have not received the attention which they deserve and I am of the opinion that the time has arrived when in many sections of the older parts of the province we must give this matter serious consideration.

Their Suggestions.

An unorthodox suggestion had embellished a large sum and was either asked advice as to how he should be dealt with.

"Get rid of him at once," advised an Englishman.

"Keep him and deduct the sum from his wages," said a Scotsman.

"But," said the employer, "the sum is far greater than his wages."

"Then raise his wages," suggested an Irishman.—Fit-Bits.

The Wool Clip

Warehouses Opened at Regina and Portage la Prairie.

The Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Ltd., are making arrangements for handling the 1921 wool clip of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and as was the case last year they have decided to operate two wool receiving warehouses, one at Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, and the other at Regina. These warehouses will be open to receive wool and sheepskins from June 1 to August 15, and upon request woolstacks and paper twine will be sent out to contributors from these points. All correspondence will be handled from the Regina office.

The company on request, in addition to forwarding woolstacks and paper twine to contributors, will also forward sufficient Cooper's Dip, either powder or liquid, as desired, to dry their fleeces, the cost being deducted from the wool returns. All wool should be shipped to reach the company's warehouse either at Portage la Prairie or Regina, between June 1 and August 15. The wool will be shipped in car lots from the above points in original sacks to the central warehouse at Weston, Ont., where it will be graded by experienced graders provided by the Dominion Livestock Branch and weighed by a Dominion Government weighmaster. It has also been arranged that on request from the producer, an advance payment of approximately two-thirds of the market value of the wool will be paid just as soon as the wool has been graded, the wool being sold when in the opinion of the management, it is possible to obtain its full value and as soon as it is all sold, the final return will be paid to the producers, who will be paid everything realized from the sale of the wool less the actual cost of marketing, as provided by the bylaws of the company.

Once on the northern waters, the plan to be followed will be to leave the houseboat tied up to the bank at the head of the various rivers, which flow into the Mackenzie, where the "Nechemus" will go up the rivers and pay the treaty to the Indians, the treaty party returning to the houseboat at night, when possible. In this way tribes can be reached, who might otherwise be overlooked, and it is the intention of the treaty party to get in touch with all the northern Indians possible.

With the exception of a small deck in the bows of the houseboat, the entire vessel is occupied by one long cabin, in which there are berths for the accommodation of the party, the centre being taken up by a large table, which when not in use is elevated to the roof and fastened there. The sides of the cabin are all open, with wooden shutters which can be drawn or, rendering the vessel entirely private, when necessary.

Increase In Dairy Products

Valued at Half Million Dollars Over Previous Year.

Percy E. Reed, dairy commissioner for Saskatchewan is responsible for the statement that there was an increase of 40,000 pounds in the creamery output in the province in 1920. The total value of dairy products for the year in the province was estimated at over $25,000,000, an increase of about half a million dollars over the previous year. There are now 47 creameries operating in the province, 44 of these having their butter graded by the provincial graders. Over half a million pounds more of government graded creamery butter was sold in 1920 than in the previous year.

New Administrator Is Mining Engineer

Staff Will Include Detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Announcement is made that O. S. Finnie, well-known mining engineer, has been appointed administrator of the new oil territory on the Mackenzie River. The staff of the administrator will consist of thirty-five men, including a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This number will include civil servants, as well as geologists, surveyors, engineers, and all the workers necessary for the opening up of a new country and the establishment of a government.

Truth-Telling Tommy.

A woman decided to give a house party. She had recently bought a hat rack and was showing this to one of the visitors when her little son came in.

So engrossed was the hostess in pointing out the good points of the hat rack that for a few minutes she did not notice the arrival of the little boy, but when she did she saw that he was still wearing his hat. "Tommy," she said, crossly, "what did I buy this hat stand for?" "For $2," retorted Tommy, "but you said I wasn't to tell anyone."

Austrian Sells Child For $30.

General indignation has been aroused in the town of Ried, in the province of Upper Austria, by the action of George Erbacher, a well-to-do butcher, who sold in an inn his four-year-old son to a horse dealer for 10,000 crowns, now worth about $30. In another inn Erbacher publicly offered his two other children for sale, asking the same sum for each.

This year the party paying the annual treaty to the Indians of the north will travel in a style and comfort hitherto unknown by the men who make the early trip to the north. A large houseboat, constructed by the Alberta Motor Boat Works, is taking the government men down the party travelling under the aegis of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The houseboat "H.B.C." which is conveying the party to the habitats of the Dogrib and the Slave, is resplendent in vivid green hull, red water line and white deck house with a flag of the H.B.C. and the Red Ensign floating from the stern. The houseboat marks a new era in transportation for the northern rivers, and with the advent of airplanes at Fort Simpson, tokens the coming of the white man.

The new craft is fifty feet long, with eleven foot beam, and will draw twelve inches of water, but despite her size she is comparatively light, weighing but three tons, which will make her easier of handling on the railways and portages.

The entire vessel is Alberta made. She is constructed from Alberta spruce, and built by Alberta workmen, and to anyone who knows anything of marine construction, she is a credit to the builders. The "H.B.C." has no power of her own, she simply represents living quarters for the treaty party, and will be towed down to the Arctic by the gas boat "Nechemus" of the H.B.C. fleet. The "Nechemus" is a powerful tow boat, equipped with 60-horsepower Buffalo engines.

Once on the northern waters, the plan to be followed will be to leave the houseboat tied up to the bank at the head of the various rivers, which flow into the Mackenzie, where the "Nechemus" will go up the rivers and pay the treaty to the Indians, the treaty party returning to the houseboat at night, when possible. In this way tribes can be reached, who might otherwise be overlooked, and it is the intention of the treaty party to get in touch with all the northern Indians possible.

With the exception of a small deck in the bows of the houseboat, the entire vessel is occupied by one long cabin, in which there are berths for the accommodation of the party, the centre being taken up by a large table, which when not in use is elevated to the roof and fastened there. The sides of the cabin are all open, with wooden shutters which can be drawn or, rendering the vessel entirely private, when necessary.

In addition to the living quarters there is a gallery with cookstove, a pantry and other necessities for the culinary operations. The roof of the cabin will be used for the storage of the lifeboat, and any gear which is not in immediate use.

Dangers of X-Rays

Inch-thick Lead Walls Recommended For Laboratories.

X-rays pass through brick walls and have injured many persons in buildings adjoining laboratories, members of the French Academy of Sciences have just been told by Professor Contremin, a radiograph expert. He advised that X-ray laboratories be completely enclosed in lead sheeting a quarter of an inch thick. It has been found, Mr. Contremin said, that rays sufficiently powerful to be useful in treating cancer, have affected persons in rooms on the other side of thick walls and in apartments above and below the radiograph room.

Kaiser's Peace Terms.

A document is said to have been found in the German archives in which the former Kaiser outlined the peace terms that he intended to impose if he had won the war in 1917. They included an indemnity of $10,000,000,000 from the United States. And the Germans expect American sympathy in their resistance to reparations.—Buffalo Express.

Advantage to Buy British Goods.

"The new budget has made it more advantageous than ever for Canadians to buy British goods, rather than those of United States manufacture," declared Capt. Evan J. Edwards, senior British trade commissioner in Canada.

Millions For Roads.

The government of Manitoba will spend $3,500,000 on the construction of roads throughout the province during this year.

A Jolt To The Wheel

By Julia Logan Archibald

It really happened. There are people who would doubt it; they would say that the American stage is too well marshalled for such occurrences. But they never knew Cary Merle. And they never knew Kenton Gray. She could not be catalogued; she was too elfin—slight and fine, too elusive and rare. She was only half American. Her mother had been a great Spanish dancer, whose stage career had ended when she married a southern aristocrat. Cary danced from babyhood. Teaching her was the only outlet for her mother's genius. Dancing was woven into the child's play; it was part of every mood—as natural as breathing. She herself did not dream how wonderful she was and her father's family frowned upon any trace of the mother's disapproved though glorious past.

Now she was alone, all her near relatives dead. For a year she had been struggling in New York. She had gone to managers. She was not the usual dancing type; was not in their dictionary, they would not even give her the opportunity to show she could dance. At last one of them, calculating her decorative effect, gave her a chorus job in the beautiful fantastic opera, "The Enchanted Road."

Kenton Gray was the composer and haunted every performance and every rehearsal with his kind, though very subtle. The opera represented blood and tears, and at last the bloom of life to him. He had had a sort of tragic existence until the tremendous success of this opera, and even now was not quite happy in its production. The company was soon to sail for a London season—at least all except Trix, the premiere danseuse, who was shortly to accomplish matrimony. Kenton Gray had never been pleased with her, though technically she was perfect, but as the weeks passed and no one was found worthy to take her place, the troubled look sank deeper into his eyes.

The company adored Cary. She made you feel you were somebody else, the person you always wanted to be. Nobody was jealous of her. She never got anything delicate that anybody else wanted. She just drifted, carelessly shedding light for others to bask in. If men loved her, they never told her so. It was like loving an elf or a nymph—she seemed so detached, so intangible.

Kenton Gray had singled her out from the first—in an absent-minded sort of way. He used to call her to sit by him sometimes during long dreary waits. He talked to her about her old home in Charleston, her father and mother, and his manner was always quite fatherly. Her happy chatter seemed a little stifled with him.

The orchestra leader, Leon Vallon, was a quiet genius, a sort of protégé of Kenton Gray's. He and Cary were great friends.

"Why is he always so sad?" she asked one day when no name had been mentioned.

"Oh, I don't know," he said, "just the loneliness of genius, I suppose. And then he's troubled about the dancer. You see most people wouldn't understand. I don't think he understands himself, but he's put his whole ideal of love into that role—the enchantress—and perhaps nobody will ever do it to please him—unless, perhaps—well he's always been disappointed in it perhaps."

"It's too bad," she said mistily, "he can't be happy in it—it's so beautiful. It's the enchanted road of life. Why, it makes me happy and I'm only a little sort of shrubby alongside of it. Oh, if he only knew!"

Then it was that the idea struck Vallon. He had often played for Cary to dance, just for the sheer joy of it and he had a dim realization that her dancing was unusual, and perhaps he had a dim realization of something else too.

But now Vallon's soul was stirred, and so it was he hatched the plot. Walburn, the producer, was to sail the next day, two weeks ahead of the company. Some English dancer would be secured—of very doubtful quality.

Vallon told Trix, who readily consented to be his accomplice. "But do you think she'll do it? Has she the nerve? She is about as practical as a frolicsome kitten."

When he went to Cary she looked bewildered, her lips trembling. Then she said she would.

At seven-thirty that night she was peering into a cracked mirror in the dressing room putting the last touch of make-up on the end of her tip-tilted nose. Later, out in front, she moved in a daze, but, at Vallon's scolding eye, she managed little make-believe smiles as she tripped at the end of her line.

The act was nearing the end. The chorus line was singing down stage preparatory to going off at the other side. Cary was the last of the line. "The lights were lowered and the spotlight turned on for Trix's dance, but there was no Trix. (Trix could faint as casually as a Jane Austin heroine.)

Cary stood stock still until she was alone on the stage.

She was pale-stricken. She could not move until she saw Vallon's face in the shadows and his hand beckoning her.

She reached the spot of light in the centre. The stage manager was all but shouting at her from the wings. Walburn's figure, in his box, shot up right like a pillar of darkness. A strange emptiness and stillness seemed to close in around her. And somewhere in the distance, a faint, was Kenton Gray groping his way toward his own enchanted road.

Then the orchestra began to call to her, pining and falling in rhythmic melody. Her body began to sway with the music, as lightly as a flower bends on its stem.

The spotlight followed her, the stage director became quiescent, and Cary began to dance. Her face was alight with a soft, serene smile, and the audience held its breath.

She began in a slow swinging motion, like the rising and falling, in circles of flight of a bird, a little white night-bird all shimmering with silver-blue moonlight. Fountains of melody rose and swelled and burst in a myriad bright drops of ecstasy, while her little feet danced with the light exquisite patter of a fairy's hoist.

Round and round she danced in widening circles. Now she became a gray-blue curling wreath of smoke aloft in low shadowy chords of sound. It was all in the night, and somewhere were the moon and stars and cloudless sky, and the tinkle of fairy bells. Formless dreams floated into the hearts of those who saw and peace hung upon a young and slender world.

Her swinging grew to whirling, and the whirling into swirling, until she became a mere scintillating spot, mad in a maze of color. At last, still upon her toes, with arm stretched wide, she skimmed down the whole length of the stage; as the curtain went down, her head drooped and she sank into a heap before the footlights, drowned in her own glory.

They picked up the limp little form and bore it to the dressing room. The terrible storm of applause thundered madly, until the manager appeared with uplifted hand to say that Senorita Carita was indisposed. If possible she would reappear during the last act, and on succeeding evenings, in one of her original dances.

It was fifteen minutes later that Cary opened her eyes and let them rest comfortably upon Kenton Gray's face, while the orchestra played dreamily out in front. In some man's way of his he was keeping the crowd away from her. She took him quite as a matter of course, and when he paused in the clutching of her hand and smiled to see her returning strength, she was glad he was no longer sad. She brushed back a lock of hair from his forehead, as if she had done it a hundred times before. Then she closed her eyes again.

He leaned nearer her, breathing fast. "Cary," he hurried, "Walburn will be here in a few moments with a contract for you to sign. You're the greatest little thing that God ever made. All I want is you! That's all I ever wanted. You don't need to dance for Walburn. It's like buying and selling Heaven. Can't you—do you—love—"

Her eyes opened slowly. "Oh, yes," she said languidly, "I do, I have all along, of course. That's why I—I didn't mind joggling the wheel of fate a little."

For British Preference

Reasons Why Canadians Should Buy Within the Empire.

"The new Budget has made it more advantageous than ever for Canadians to buy British goods rather than those of United States manufacturers," declared Captain Evan J. Edwards, senior British Trade Commissioner in Canada, in a recent interview in Montreal. "It will also be a big help to agents and business houses who prefer to do business with the Mother Country, and within the British Empire. Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, in his speech when introducing the Budget, pointed out that business with the United Kingdom continues to be satisfactory, imports from these having risen from $126,359,249 in 1919 to $213,930,946 in 1920, with the added satisfaction to Canadian buyers and consumers that their dollars are at a premium in the English market, as against a discount in the United States."

"A section of the Budget which will assist very much indeed is the clause requiring custom duty to be levied on the invoiced value of goods after taking the rate of exchange into account."—At the desire of business interests throughout Canada, customs regulations drawn up several months ago made it compulsory for this to be done with European goods, but for certain reasons no similar requirements were made on imports from the States. The result was a considerable advantage to importers of American goods, so much so, that in many cases with a high rate of exchange it amounted to a quite substantial reduction of the protective customs tariff, and sometimes did away with the preferential tariff given to products of the Empire.

"Now American manufacturers will rank the same as those of any other country," continued Captain Edwards, "and I believe the effect will be not only to encourage British trade, but to assist considerably in re-establishing the equilibrium of trade between Canada and the States, and bring back to its fair value the Canadian dollar, which is improving so slowly that still it is worth only some ninety cents in the States."

"Sir Henry Drayton says—and it is clearly known to every business man, including those Canadians and Americans who are interested in pouring into this country quantities of American manufactures—that Canada, to save herself from financial bankruptcy, must buy less from the States, of products which can be raised or made on this side of the line, or in the United Kingdom."

"With the new aids to Empire trade, derived from Sir Henry's latest Budget, a saving of often from thirty to forty per cent. to the Canadian consumer can be shown by buying Empire products instead of American, and as Britishers, it is not necessary to remind Canadians that there are few lines of goods in which Old Country quality is not superior to that of the American article."

"Canada's own products can be better supplied than they now are, by herself," insists Captain Edwards, whose many years' experience in big business in the Old Country and the other Dominions adds authority to his statements. "More aggressive selling campaigns by our own manufacturers, perhaps a willingness to spread present heavy overhead charges more thinly over a bigger production by price reductions, and more reluctance on the part of Canadian buyers to be cajoled by the wiles of the American salesmen in our midst, would all assist Canada in getting financially on her own feet."

The Home Of No Trash

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management

Most homes contain little or much trash. And it is not until one starts to move or houseclean that she discovers how many useless things she is harboring.

A bride of a year came to me the other day with a confession. Said she, "This housekeeping job is not what story writers would have us believe. I work just all the time—and you simply have to work all the time if you are to keep your house in good order."

She invited me to her home of seven rooms and bath.

One entire room was devoted to What Nots and other trash. It was termed "The Den." And it was laden to capacity with things from a miniature of Cleopatra's Needle to the proverbial, but decidedly realistic, anchor.

To make it a trashless home, it would have been necessary to get rid of nine-tenths of the ENCUMBRANCES in that Den.

But there is another type of trash hanger. It is the home in which everything of no use is relegated to the unoffending bathroom or guest (7) room or kitchen or attic.

Every housewife recognizes in her heart that there is trash of some kind in her home. Why doesn't she get rid of it? For, it takes REAL courage to resist the heart throb that comes to the born hoarder when she parts with that worn-out washboard—when she makes off with the mangy hairbrush, the peeling mirror, the ruined umbrella, the headless doll, the tripy door-mat, the time-worn brass teaspoon and the cracked plate.

In contrast to the home cluttered with trash, let me tell you about a really beautiful home. At first you wondered why you felt such a sense of restfulness. And soon you began to realize that the charm of this home was due in great measure to its lack of furniture and furnishings.

As you entered, you came into the reception hall. On either side of the fireplace was a built-in bookcase. There was one large, delightfully roomy divan, a built-in window seat, a willow armchair. And you looked at the vivid Indian rug on the floor and your eye wandered over unnumbered wall space until it rested on one exquisite, soul-stirring picture. And you just sunk into a restful attitude and wished to stay long, long in this charming room.

Here housekeeping was just like playing house for it was a trashless home.

Hollow Prison Bars

Filled With Water, Slightest Break Would Cause Investigation.

A new type of bars, designed for prisons are of hollow metal, filled with water. These pipes are all connected with a central pump, and the water is kept under high pressure. Thus, the slightest break in any bar would cause a powerful jet of water to spurt. To continue filling the bar would be almost impossible. Also the fact that there was a leakage somewhere would be registered on a dial on the central pump, and lead to speedy investigation.

JOSEPH DROUIN, of Montreal, declares he suffered six years with dyspepsia, but six bottles of Tanlac made a new man of him—Gained 35 pounds.

"I could hardly believe my own eyes when I stepped on the scales after taking six bottles of Tanlac and found I had actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight," said Joseph Drouin, 2194 A. St. Denis St., Montreal, who, for the past twenty-six years, has been passenger conductor on the Canadian Pacific Railway and is well and favorably known along the line of his run between Montreal and Mount Laurier.

"Before I started on this medicine I was in a bad way. For years I'd had to take my meals here, there and everywhere and, as the result of this irregular eating, my internal machinery got all out of working order. I lost all desire for food and what little I ate would form gas and bloated me up until I could hardly breathe. I became so nervous I couldn't sleep at all well at night and was often so tired in the mornings I didn't care whether I took my train out or not. I fell off twenty-five pounds in weight and became alarmed about my condition, for I had tried all sorts of medicine without getting any relief."

"Then, one day I read a statement in the paper which decided me to give Tanlac a thorough trial. Well, Tanlac would have believed any medicine could do a man so much good in such a short time. It quickly settled my stomach and gave me such an appetite that I could eat three good square meals a day and no longer have any trouble with indigestion or gas and I sleep so well at night, even when on the road, that I think it would take a collier to wake me up. I now turn the scales at two hundred and ten pounds, which is ten pounds more than I ever weighed in my life and feel better in every way than I have for a very long time. Tanlac is the best medicine I ever tried. Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."

A Giant Parachute

Could Lift Cabin With Passengers From Airplane In Distress.

A parachute large enough to lift the cabin complete with all the passengers from an airplane in distress was described by T. Orde Lees, in a lecture to the Royal Aeronautical Society in London.

The decision and operation were placed in the hands of the pilot, so that the passengers were not called upon to think for themselves.

During the war (the lecturer estimated) 200 British pilots jumped without parachutes from their burning machines at high altitudes rather than be roasted to death. All were killed. Nearly 200 would have been saved if they had had parachutes.

Addressing Letters

System Used By Spain Must Save Much Time.

Is our method of addressing an envelope, I wonder, the best one? In Spain the method adopted is exactly the reverse to ours. The name of the country to which the letter is to be sent is written at the top of the envelope, the name of the town next, and on the following line the personal or private address, while on the last line the name of the addressee is inscribed. I suppose the sorter arranges his letters according to the name of the country first, town next, precinct of that town last, while the postman and the recipient only are concerned with the name on the envelope, so that the saving of time which this system must effect seems to contradict the impression that the Spanish are "inefficient." Can there be any reason not readily apparent, which has kept other countries from adopting this system?—The Westminster Gazette.

Skeletons of Warriors Found

Thought to be Soldiers of William the Conqueror.

Fifteen skeletons have been discovered at Willington Hill, Eastbourne, England, during excavations for road widening. An iron dagger was also found.

It is thought that the remains are those of warriors buried after the Battle of Hastings in 1066. The hill is situated near Pevensey Bay, where William the Conqueror landed. Twelve years ago, when similar discoveries were made, daggers were found in ribs and spearheads in skulls.

WHEN BABY IS ILL

When the baby is ill, when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting makes him happy, Baby's Own Tablets should be given him without delay. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colic and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Desire Thierberg, 708 1/2 St. Louis, Que., writes: "I am well satisfied with my use of Baby's Own Tablets. I have found them of great benefit to my baby when he was suffering from constipation and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

British Coal Imports Mostly Canadian

The importation of Canadian coal seems to be a somewhat important factor in meeting the situation caused by the miners' strike in Great Britain. Recently a despatch to the London Times dealing with the receipts of foreign coal, emphasized the fact that nearly all the vessels arriving at Glasgow with coal cargoes were Canadian.

It affects many people more in winter than in summer—in the one case it is due to improper eating—in the other to congestion caused by cold. Wedding Gown For The Summer Bride

By Marie Belmont.

Beautiful lace is combined with exquisite white meteor in this attractive wedding gown. It is designed with a panel of the meteor in the front and back. The corsage with its wide draped sleeves is made of the lace. The sides are also cut from the lace and elaborated with irregular cut cascade panels that give a pretty flare to the gown. A giraffe of satin heavily beaded modifies the side bouffant, while small hand-made flowers join the panels on the shoulders. The veil of white tulle is held in place by a spray of orange blossoms and white roses.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Why You Should Cast a Vote For Nelson Spencer

(Supplied from Col. Spencer's Committee Rooms)

BECAUSE he is a man who has been tried and has not been found wanting. He is known to be a man possessed of ability, energy and integrity, and uses all for the benefit of this district and the country as a whole.

BECAUSE he supports a government which stands for nation building as opposed to the forces that are trying to tear down and wreck.

BECAUSE class movements with their class consciousness would lead to group government, which would mean political chaos with corresponding financial and commercial disturbances if not disaster.

BECAUSE it surely is time for us all to keep our heads and proceed with the utmost caution in our national affairs. It likewise is the worst of all possible times to consider departing from traditional trade and financial policies which have successfully stood the test of time.

BECAUSE if you are a laboring man, whether connected with any branch of organized labor or not, the present government is the first and only government in Canada that went to the ranks of labor to choose its Minister of Labor, and in order to give permanence and stability to that representative they also made him a Senator. And further because at the convention of the party to which Mr. Spencer's opponent is a supporter, the leaders of that party refused to consider the needs of the Labor party as presented to them by representatives of labor, and refused to affiliate with them.

BECAUSE as a citizen of this country, in which all classes and conditions of trade, commerce, enterprise and development are represented you cannot afford to hand the government of such a country over to any one particular class.

BECAUSE the policy advocated by Mr. Spencer's opponent would practically mean wiping out most of the large revenues derived through the Custom's tariff and nothing is offered in substitution except vague suggestions that we should get what is necessary from the Income Tax, which, in the minds of those of our people who come forward as good citizens and pay that tax as high as it can safely be put.

BECAUSE you must know that the reason the Canadian dollar is now only worth from 85c to 88c in the United States is because we are buying more goods from that country than we are selling to them, and that is due to the drastic tariff reduction and free trade policies as advocated by Mr. Spencer's opponent it is to be made much easier for the American to sell goods to us, and consequently, the only result would be that our good Canadian dollar would be at a still greater discount.

BECAUSE in 1915 the Non-Partisan League captured official control of the State of North Dakota. At that time it was one of the wealthiest and most prosperous States in the Republic. Then began the practical application of economic political group action. It was identical with that now urged in Western Canada by Mr. Spencer's opponent, who favors class legislation or government by occupational groups.

Today North Dakota is bankrupt or finds her finances in such a state that years will be required of sound administration to undo the mischief.

BECAUSE the financiers of the world are just beginning to realize the tremendous extent of our natural resources, and the splendid advantages we have for manufacturing development by reason of our magnificent water powers; and, unless checked by immature statehood we should see a great development of Canada, which will be of untold benefit to the whole people. We have to do is to keep steady, and to be sane in our politics. We should not let the extremists and class agitators carry us away with their half-baked, half-digested theories. In these troublesome times, with such splendid prospect ahead of us, we should cling fast to that which we know, cling fast to sane, orderly, stable government for all classes, a government based upon the best Anglo-Saxon practice and not allow ourselves to get tangled up in class movements based upon class consciousness, which can only lead to chaos, if not disaster.

Local and General

WHEAT SEEDING IS COMPLETED WITH A BIG ACREAGE SOWN

Reports from all parts of the province indicate that general crop conditions are particularly favorable. During the past few weeks sufficient rain has fallen in practically every part of the province. The weather for the past week has been somewhat cool with light frosts reported over a wide area and causing slight damage to some of the growing crops and garden stuff. This was not serious, however, in any district. From the fifteenth to the twenty-fifth of May the weather was exceptionally warm for the time of year. As a consequence the early sown crops got a good start. The wheat is up from five to seven inches above the ground and the early sown oats are well advanced, both crops showing a fine color.

On account of the particularly fine season for seeding the crop acreage sown will be larger than was anticipated in the first crop report. Wheat seeding is now completed and will show an average increase in acreage over last year of about 20 per cent. Some points in the Peace River and Grand Prairie districts report an increase of 40 per cent. in wheat. Eighty per cent. of the acreage of oats for threshing purposes is already seeded and about 30 per cent. of the barley is in. Oats for threshing purposes will show a decrease of about 25 per cent. Most of the oats for green feed are yet to be sown. Barley will show an increase of about 30 per cent. The potato average will remain about the same as last year with the possibility of a slight increase.

50 RIGS OPERATE IN ALBERTA THIS YEAR

According to reports from Edmonton at least 50 oil drilling outfits will be working in Alberta this summer, covering the country from the international boundary to the northern limits of the province. About 20 outfits belong to the Imperial Oil Co., while British and American interests are behind others.

SUNDAY'S DOWNPOUR WILL PROVE OF AID TO GROWING CROPS

The southern section of Alberta received a welcome rain over Sunday, which undoubtedly will prove of great benefit to the new crops. Reports from outside places state that the storm was quite severe, being accompanied by sharp lightning flashes and heavy crashes of thunder.

In the vicinity of Chinook the downfall was not so heavy and late in the afternoon the sky cleared and the sun again shone. South of the correction line, however, old Plover was a bit more generous and reports say that the roads were badly filled up in places and well nigh impossible for wheeled traffic. North of the creek the precipitation was also much heavier than around Chinook. Crops generally were much refreshed by the down pour. Farmers state that in the districts where the rain was greater; the grain will be distinctly benefited.

Your Red Cross Calls

Red Cross to-day is the vision of a wonderful ideal. Faith and effort can carry it to a glorious reality.

Its peace-time mission is to save lives and to help the suffering, exactly as it was on the battlefield.

It can ward off disease from your child and mine and the child that is yet unborn and make the world a better place for him to live in. It can ward off pestilence and contagion from your own community and so protect us all. It can help weld all the people of our country and of all the other countries into the common brotherhood of sympathy that is so necessary now if humanity is to keep to the path of progress.

Red Cross has not forgotten the crippled, the blinded, the helpless, or the simply unsettled remnants of war, in our hospitals and throughout our land.

She remembers them, and has the resources and devotion to care for them, but she also has a new and a broad work to do for which your endorsement is now asked.

The membership enrolment is a nation-wide reminder to everyone who has ever helped the Red Cross, or been helped by it—and who has not—to renew their allegiance to its sacred emblem, identify themselves by their membership with its effort to better the condition of humanity at home, throughout our Dominion, all over the world.

When you could see with your own eyes that your son was in danger and could be helped, you did not hesitate. You can still see the dangers that surround him everywhere, if you will but look with the eyes of understanding.

Learn all about the Red Cross Mission for health. Join the Red Cross and enlist in its crusade.
